Seven New German Attacks On Stronghold Are Reported Repulsed

By JAMES E. BROWN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, June 11. — Seven new German attacks on the Sevastopol front were repulsed by Soviet forces today and at least 1,000 Nazis killed, according to official reports from the battlefront.

On another sector of the area where German military authorities themselves describe Soviet resistance as "remarkable," an entire German division was thrown back.

Battle Anew At Kharkov

Terrific fighting flared anew on the Kharkov front today while the Nazis continued their furious blasts against the Soviet naval base of Sevastopol.

The battle on the Kharkov sector was resumed when German Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock opened a large-scale offensive in an apparent effort to reduce the gains made last month by Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's armies in a drive on Nazi positions before the Ukraine capital.

The Moscow radio announced that all attacks by the Germans against Sevastopol were being constantly repulsed by the Russian defenders. The Soviets are making frequent

American Warships Join British Fleet

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 11. — A strong task force of the American navy, under command of Rear Admiral Robert C. Giffen, has joined the British home fleet, it was disclosed today.

The American units were said to have been in service "for some time" under command of Rear Admiral Tovey, commander-in-chief of the British home fleet.

Arrival of the American naval units was believed to have answered any threat by the German fleet, which has powerful ships in Trondheim fjord, to attack Anglo-American supply lines to Russia.

King George VI boarded an American battleship and cruiser after the task force had reached British waters. The cruiser's band played "God Save the King" as the British monarch came aboard. After WASHINGTON, June 11. — Japanese reverses and losses in the Coral sea and Midway island battles led naval observer to declare today that Nippon's striking power has been blunted greatly and that as a result Hawaii, Australia, Alaska and the Pacific coast are safe from the danger of attack for the time being.

Asserting that Japan began the Pacific conflict with the greatest fleet of aircraft carriers the world has ever known, these sources contended that the major portion of this plane carrying armada has been sunk or damaged during the past six months.

Confers With President Roosevelt On Post-War Restoration Of Greece

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—With Greek men, women and children reportedly dropping dead daily in the streets of Athens from starvation imposed by the Axis conquerors, King George II of Greece today discussed plans with the American government for the restoration of his homeland when the Axis has been defeated.

The Greek king, who spent the first night of his state visit to this country in the White House as a guest of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, is understood to be discussing plans for his country's role in the better world order it is hoped to establish after the war is over.

The United States already has offered to conclude with Greece a mutual aid and economic pact designed to assure that nation's participation in the program for establishment of the proposed better world order.

Under the terms of this pact, Greece would accept American trade principles as the basis for a post-war international economic system in return for America's

The third prong consisting of cavalry units was said to have ambushed a force of Japanese, killing more than 100 and forcing them to retreat from Linfen toward Fencheng.

Chuhsien Still Held By Chinese

Chungking Admits Japanese Have Detoured Around Rail Center However

(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, June 11. — The shell-torn city of Chuhsien, in Chekiang province, is still held by a "last ditch" Chinese force, a military spokesman said today while admitting that Japanese units have detoured around the rail center.

The spokesman revealed that supplies continue to reach China across north Burma from India but he refused to give details of the route except to point out that the use of both land and air routes both were "quite possible."

Discussing possible supply lines, the spokesman called attention to Japanese statements that China is using the ancient silk caravan route west of the Himalayas in Sinkiang. He declined, however, to indicate whether or not the Japanese statement was correct.

The spokesman revealed that Chinese troops are operating in Burma north of Japanese-held Myitkyina, but declared they had as yet made no contact with the enemy in that area. Myitkyina is the site of a vital Japanese airport. It has seen several recent bombings by United Nations Air Force planes.

Chinese troops were said to have checked a Japanese southward drive that had moved 25 miles from Paotow to Suiyuan. The enemy was driven back 11 miles to Tsochou by a series of violent counter-attacks, it was announced.

American Fliers Tell Story Of Japs' Defeat At Midway

By FRANK NEILL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, June 11.—American fliers returning victorious to Pearl Harbor after routing the Japanese fleet off Midway revealed today that Uncle Sam's Army, Navy and Marine Corps pilots performed against the enemy like a championship football team.

Intrepid army fliers who carried out three separate attacks in flying fortress bombers against the Japanese and sank two aircraft carriers, scored hits on three battleships, four cruisers and several destroyers gave thrilling eyewitness accounts of the roles they played in blasting the enemy from Midway and winning for America one of its greatest sea victories.

"Pilot's Dream"

"It was a pilot's dream," said C. P. Tokarz, 26-year-old captain from Port Richmond, Va.

"We caught them with their pants down. We socked a fat Jap transport with everything we had and in three minutes it seemed like a thousands Japs were swimming back to Tokyo."

That was the description of this young flying fortress pilot of his baptism of fire off Midway.

Captain Tokarz's plane also was credited with sinking one Japanese carrier and damaging a cruiser.

The flying fortresses were led into combat in three separate attacks by Col. Walter C. Sweeney, Jr., of San Francisco. His forces returned to their base with only a single casualty—one gunner in the tail of a bomber caught and injured his little finger in a door of the plane.

Captain Tokarz was still bleary-eyed after flying 54 gruelling hours in three days when he related the role that he and his bomber crew of eight played in the Midway engagement.

Make Three Attacks

Flying in their B-17 bomber which they affectionately call "Jitterbug," the nine men braved the heaviest anti-aircraft barrages and battled off hordes of deadly Jap Zero naval fighter planes to make three attacks on the Nipponese fleet in two days.

"We scored two direct hits on that fat troop transport on June

Report Italians Are Sick Of War

Senate Body Gets Report

Recently Returned Americans Tell Of Conditions In Axis Nations

GERMANY STILL HOPES FOR VICTORY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—German people still believe that they can win the war, but their morale may be cracked if the Nazi army fails to reach Moscow this year, while the Italians are sick of the fighting and were filled with dismay when Mussolini declared war on the United States.

This is the inside picture of conditions in the Rome-Berlin Axis as described today by members of the senate foreign relations committee, who were given unvarnished reports in secret session by government officials who have recently returned from Germany and Italy.

The authoritative outlook in the dictator nations was described by some members as showing that the American people must face stern realities in the war, and at the same time, as offering the possibility of a crackup in Axis morale.

Conditions Worse

Conditions were reportedly much worse in Italy than in Germany. Senators who received the reports were disappointed because those with whom they talked had left Germany before the British bombing of Cologne. Earlier bombings were said not to have been extensive enough to crack the German morale, but it was agreed that such devastation as the Cologne attack may change the picture.

Mussolini was said to be slipping physically and in the esteem of his people. While Italian fliers and the Italian navy have struck some powerful blows against the British, both in the Mediterranean and Libya, the heart of the Italian people was said to be sick.

Italy suffers from insufficient food, a bursting population, dislike for the Germans and a general feeling of helplessness.

People Deluded

The people, senators were told, feel that they were deluded. They were led to believe that Italy, by joining Germany in the war, would obtain territory and riches with little cost.

The senators were informed that there are signs in Germany that Adolf Hitler has lost in popularity, in part because of his last year's failure to utterly defeat Russia and destroy England, but is still accepted as the only leader capable of directing the nation.

Hiler was reported to be consolidating Nazi party leadership, perhaps to guard against defection of army dominance, but in such a way that his grip on the nation is strengthened.

The food situation in Germany was said to be serious, but not bad enough to cause great privation. This, it was said, is partly due to the fact that the Germans are buying food from the hapless Italians, who must do without.

JAPAN'S STRIKING POWER IS GREATLY DIMINISHED BELIEF

have been extremely heavy and this, too, is expected to play an important part in the enemy's future water borne invasion operations.

May Have Lost 8,000

On the basis of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' report that "thousands" of Japanese perished in the Midway battle, conservative naval analysts estimated that the enemy lost between 6,000 and 8,000 trained warships personnel and pilots in the recent engagement.

Pointing out that "token" raids on American island bases and coastal points still are possible, navy men contended that the Japanese warship and personnel losses to date precluded assaults in force at least for the present.

A survey of official United States Army and Navy communiques to date disclosed that between eight and 12 aircraft carriers and four to six plane tenders have been sunk or damaged in the past six months.

Indicating the secret strength of Japan's carrier fleet prior to the war, however, it was pointed out that best estimates in December placed Nippon's carrier strength at eight ships. Subsequent observations indicated that actually the Nipponese started the war with more than 18 such craft, including merchant ships converted to this purpose.

Slow Down Japs

Studying the gradual but apparently definite slowing down of Japanese blitzkrieg invasion tactics during the past two months, navy men asserted it was due to the sinking or damaging of the bulk of Nippon's carrier and tender fleet.

It was pointed out that virtually all gains made by the enemy in the Pacific since the attack upon Pearl Harbor December 7 were accomplished with powerful naval forces spearheaded by ship-based planes.

Using carrier-based planes, the Japanese overwhelmed numerically inferior American and United Nations air forces and blasted a wide invasion path through the Netherlands Indies to the northern approaches of Australia.

In their wake, these forces left a series of island invasion bases from which they would send out land planes.

Early in the conflict, however, American forces began to whittle down the strength of Japan's carrier fleet.

During the battle of Java, army bombers blasted one of the first carriers in the Celebese area. On January 15, an American sub sent to the bottom a 17,000-ton Yawata class liner which was believed to have been converted into a carrier.

Canning Sugar Rush Is Easing

Some easing off was seen today in the rush for canning sugar ration cards. While the various stations were busy there was not the huge crowds gathered on the court house porch, the North Street school and the Mahoning schools that was seen on previous days this week.

Chairman William J. Caldwell of the Commodity Rationing Board announced today that a school building in Plaingrove will be opened Friday afternoon and will continue open on Saturday to care for the applicants in that part of the county.

New Bedford has about completed registering its applicants and the station there will close tonight. The North Street and Mahoning schools will close Friday night for the week and unless the demand is present, they will not open on Monday. This is not definite as yet.

Ration cards for canning sugar may be secured any time at all, and those housewives who do not need sugar just now for canning strawberries or early cherries will save themselves time and annoyance by waiting until the present rush abates.

GERMAN FORCES RENEW BATTLE ON KHARKOV FRONT

counter-assaults on the besieging forces of Col. Gen. Fritz Von Mannstein, it was added.

(Reuter's news agency in London reported a broadcast by the Vichy radio in which it was claimed that German forces had penetrated into the other defenses of the Black Sea naval base on the southwestern shore of the Crimea.)

Reveal Drive Begun

The Soviet high command revealed in a brief communique that the Germans had begun an offensive in the Kharkov area.

"Heavy fighting is in progress on the Kharkov front where the Germans have taken the offensive," the communique said.

"Enemy attacks at Sevastopol were repelled with heavy German losses."

The objective of the new Nazi offensive could not be determined immediately, although it is possible the long-expected and much-delayed spring drive toward the Caucasus oil fields may now be under way. Red army leaders said the recent offensive by Marshal Timoshenko at Kharkov was undertaken to forestall Nazi intentions to begin a march toward Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus.

Latest Soviet reports from the Crimea indicated that Von Mannstein had thrown in 2,000 planes and 100,000 troops in a tremendous effort to capture Sevastopol which has been under siege for five months.

Thousands of Germans are reported to have fallen so far in the attempt to take the naval base but Soviet officials admit that the situation is growing more grave hourly.

(The Vichy news agency reported a dispatch from Ankara stating that German troops reportedly had landed on the Tamna peninsula on the eastern side of the Kerch straits and occupied Anspal. Should the report prove true it would mean the Nazis had gained a foothold in the western Caucasus, but there has been no authoritative confirmation of the report.)

In extending "sincere good wishes" for the health and happiness and continued well-being of all the British people, the president expressed to King George "the sympathy and admiration of the American people for the valiant defense in which the people of the British empire" are "so bravely engaged."

PEARL HARBOR, June 11.—Major General Williss Hale, commander of the flying fortress bombers which played a major role in smashing the Jap fleet off Midway voiced the highest praise today of the performance of the army, navy and marine pilots.

"Everyone," he said, "was even better than their press releases."

NEW YORK, June 11.—Fire of undetermined origin damaged the freighter Irene Dupont to an undetermined extent at a Brooklyn dock at the foot of Columbia street today.

Firemen battled the flames for some time before bringing them under control in the hold of the ship.

An investigation of the cause of the blaze was launched.

After a cursory probe, police said the flames may have been of incendiary origin.

STOCKHOLM, June 11.—Four members of the crew of a Swedish plane were killed Tuesday when the plane crashed during maneuvers over Nykoeping, on the Swedish east coast, it was announced today.

LONDON, June 11.—The British government today introduced a supplementary vote of credit in the House of Commons for war expenses. The total was $4,000,000,000.

PRESIDENT AND MOLOTOV REACH UNDERSTANDING

remainder in the Blair House, the official Washington residence for visiting dignitaries.

The White House was advised that Molotov had arrived safely home in Russia today thus clearing the way to announce the results of his trip.

"In the course of the conversations full understanding was reached with regard to the urgent tasks of creating a second front in 1942," the presidential statement declared.

London Agreement Also

From London, it was simultaneously announced by Anthony Eden that an Anglo-Russian alliance had been concluded for mutual aid after the war against any fresh attack by the Axis. Molotov, it was revealed, first negotiated the pact with England and then flew to the United States to hold his conversations with President Roosevelt.

The pact signed in London was an alliance providing for full military cooperation for duration of the war and 20 years after.

"In addition, the measures for increasing and speeding up the supplies of planes, tanks and other kinds of war materials from the United States to the Soviet Union were discussed.

"Further were discussed the fundamental problems of cooperation of the Soviet Union and the United States in safeguarding peace and security to the freedom loving peoples after the war.

"Both sides state with satisfaction the unity of their views on all these questions."

Most Successful

The president, it was revealed, asked the Soviet foreign minister to advise Premier Josef Stalin that he felt the Washington conversations had "been most useful in establishing a basis for fruitful and closer relationship between the two governments in the pursuit of the common objectives of the United Nations."

Joining with Mr. Roosevelt and Commissar Molotov in the White House deliberations between May 29 and June 4 were Soviet Ambassador Maxim Litvinov, Lend-Lease Supervisor Harry Hopkins, Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. fleet.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, it was disclosed, joined "in subsequent conversations on non-military matters."

Molotov made his visit a secret visit to the United States at the request of the president.

Although the Washington press corps was aware of his presence, at the request of the government no inkling was made public until the Soviet envoy had safely returned home.

British Agreement

London, June 11.—In full agreement on details regarding creation of a second front in Europe in 1942, Great Britain and Russia have signed a 20-year mutual assistance pact ruling out any separate peace with Germany, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced in the House of Commons today.

Immediately after disclosing the treaty has been signed, Eden said: "Full understanding has been reached between the two parties regarding the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

The main points of the treaty were:

1—Full Anglo-Soviet collaboration with the United Nations in a peace settlement and reconstruction.

2—Full mutual assistance in prosecution of the war.

3—A pledge by both nations not to enter into any negotiations with the Hitlerite government "or any other government of Germany that does not clearly renounce all aggressive intentions.

4—A promise not to negotiate any armistice or peace treaty with Germany except by mutual consent.

5—An offer to "like-minded states" to join in collective measures for preservation of peace and resistance to aggression after the war.

the formal inspection ended, King George visited the crew's quarters, and expressed surprise and satisfaction at the comfort of the quarters and the spirit of the men.

Among those who welcomed the American fleet units was Admiral Harold R. Stark, former U. S. naval operations chief and now commander-in-chief of American naval forces in European waters.

After inspecting the cruiser and battleship King George complimented Admiral Giffen on the "smart appearance of his ships and their companies."

SCRAP RUBBER TO BE COLLECTED

250,000 service stations would serve as "collection depots" where civilians may deposit old hot water bottles, galoshes, discarded tires and tubes and other items.

Rosenwald's bureau has been busily engaged for several weeks preparing an over-all salvage campaign that would embrace rubber, metals, rags, fats and oils and every commodity in which a war shortage exists.

At the president's insistence, however, officials revised plans and prepared to go ahead immediately with the rubber campaign in order to end existing confusion and determine exactly how much scrap rubber was available. Estimates have ranged from 700,000 to 10,000,000 tons.

NAVY CASUALTY LISTS

THIS country's last experience with war casualty lists left it unprepared to cope with the situation that has developed out of the far different casualty reporting problem of this war. During the First World War nearly all casualties were in the Army or within a small area of naval operations. While mistakes were made, and the Army could not identify some of its dead, the record keeping was, in the main, comparatively easy.

In this war the Navy has to consider the fact that many who are missing may have been picked up afloat and landed at remote places, or deliberately hidden by friendly merchant captains. As the Navy's bureau of personnel explained in releasing its fourth list of dead, wounded and missing, the difficulty of obtaining lists of prisoners is great, for they must be obtained from Japan in a roundabout way, and may be far from complete.

Considering the errors made in the hasty reporting following Pearl Harbor—errors due entirely to the Navy's desire to relieve the anxiety of kinsfolk as soon as possible—delay in the interest of accuracy is fully justified. It works a hardship on the families of Navy men who are known to be in the fighting zone, but it is an unavoidable circumstance of the war.

Suggestions that Navy casualty lists have been withheld in order to brighten the picture are not supported by the Navy's record. It has now reported a total of 8,500 officers and men killed, wounded or missing. That is a large number, and it does not seem to be out of line with the Navy's record of many engagements, some of them among the most severe in the whole history of the American Navy.

FEDERAL JOB CONTROL

The shades of Hamilton and Jefferson must be grinning as they watch the 1942 renewal of their famous contest over states' rights as against federalization, a fight now being fought in the meetings of the House Appropriation Committee. For the states and the federal government have locked horns on the question of the advisability of federalizing the state unemployment compensation and unemployment service systems for the duration and possibly longer.

To many citizens, the drive for this objective by Washington officials has the stain of a political move masked as a wartime necessity, or at least what is claimed as a wartime necessity. Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, testified before the committee that such a program of federalization was necessary because unemployment is a "national and not a state problem."

His testimony conflicted with the opinion of his own Social Security Board as presented by its chairman, Arthur J. Altmeyer, who said the board had no intention of retaining its wartime federal control over state employment agencies and would "certainly recommend" their return to state control after the war.

Unemployment is both a national and a state problem. Neither Washington nor the individual states can solve it without the other's aid. The New Deal tried to do it alone with the WPA and other agencies. It failed, and it will fail in this new drive, the real purpose of which is to get federal control of state unemployment reserve funds.

SELLING THE BONDS

Following the May War Bond sale campaign, which was notably successful in most states, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said that the plan to force the buying of War Bonds by deductions from pay had been abandoned. "Any suggestion made or considered by congress doesn't begin to equal the amount we can get through the voluntary method," he said.

Discussion of the compulsory savings plan yielded the official opinion that if put into effect it would stop practically all voluntary buying. Treasury experts believe that the compulsory plan and the voluntary plan can not be carried through together.

If Secretary Morgenthau's recommendation is followed, and no deductions are made for bond buying, the decision should release much money that has been held in anticipation of forced buying. It will also contribute to public morale, for there will then be no ill feeling over the possibility that those on regular pay rolls will be forced to buy, while those whose income is from other sources will be left free to decided for themselves.

If congress will contribute to the bond campaign by reducing expenses that are not connected with the war, thereby assuring people that their bond and stamp buying sacrifices are not being spent to keep favored politicians in luxury, the sales should reach the $12,000,000,000 a year which the treasury has set as its goal.

FILL THAT COAL BIN NOW

After deciding to take over the coal mines and institute rigid rationing of fuel to households and industries, the British government now announces that this drastic measure will be postponed until it is seen how voluntary rationing works out. But it makes plain that the proposed basic individual allowance of half a ton of coal a year, with somewhat additional supplies for large families, may yet have to be applied.

Lack of manpower for the mines has caused many vigorous complaints in Parliament. Fortunately we have no such problem here. We have abundant supplies of coal and the men to mine it. The difficulty looming on the horizon is that of transportation. Congestion of the railroads handling war materials may be so great within a few months that the coal cannot be carried, except for essential industries.

Shortage of fuel oil will increase hardships for many American families. Conversion of domestic heating apparatus to coal will cause huge demands for this form of fuel. Our government is not considering rationing coal, but dealers might have to do so unless householders buy now while the railroads are in a position to handle the traffic. This is the time to fill up the empty bins. It is distinctly a case where delay is dangerous.

For years Americans have been advised to relax and lack of tires may soon make acceptance of the advice compulsory.

An advantage in declaring war on Hitler's satellite nations is that this will place them on their own side of the table at the peace conference.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

KEEPING CHILDREN CALM IN AIR RAID

EMOTIONS ARE contagious, especially in these times. This is well illustrated in connection with blackouts and air raid drills. In various parts of the United States parents have told me of violent expressions of fears among young children during and after the community precautions against air raids. Also one hears on every hand that most of these children soon regain peace of mind when parents, teachers and other adults are calm and able to keep the child's attention on things away from suggestions of harm, danger.

Regains Composure

As the younger child sees the adult and older child follow instructions and rules during an air raid drill in business-like fashion, and as he is assured that these drills aim to make us all more safe if raids should happen, he is likely to regain composure.

Some young children, even those as old as eight or ten, get emotional relief as they play imaginary games of escape from raids, scampering under beds and designated places of safety in the home.

A serious problem with older children and many adults is that they do not take air raid drills seriously enough, don't do as they are directed to do or go where they are told to go. On this matter parents, teachers and the police should be very exacting.

Safe Ways To Play

As soon as school vacation begins it will be still harder to effect good discipline during an air raid drill. Parents should always know where their children are; certainly now in these perilous times, and for their moral as well as physical safety.

Right away parents of the child under 10 or 12 should require him to remain in the bock or near home. While this rule is good to be followed in normal times, it is especially desirable now. Moreover, in every block, parents should work to gether at ways of providing safe ways for play. In many communities some streets should be roped off for play places.

Throughout the day, in all our family relationships, we can be preparing for air raids and blackouts. The more ways we practice at cooperation, companionship and good times together when all is well the better resources we have to master our own emotions and to keep our children calm and courageous during air raid drills.

Familiar Songs

We ought to practice singing familiar songs with simple melody and rhythm, singing loudly and lustily, keeping time with tapping of the feet and clapping of the hands. The banjo, accordion, piano, harmonica or other instruments might be effectively played in the dark. Indeed, it could be fun for the family to sit and sing together at twilight or after dark. Also some religious groups might profitably practice at hymn-singing in homes or in churches.

Telling Stories

Some parets can tell stories well or make them up; so can some children. If stories have been read to the young child he and the older children and the parents can have much to talk about in the dark.

A selected list of books to read to the baby and young child, or a list of the school-age or adolescent child to read, may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

And, her daddy replied: "The chaplain looks at the members in attendance and then prays for the country."

Don't be like the man who was boiling a pot of coffee and frizzling some bacon over a fire he had made on the prairie. DON'T BELIEVE IT

In the days before tire-saving gasoline rationing, a man from Springfield went to Lake Sunapee on a fishing trip. One day, after landing a fair catch from a pool, he had several strikes from a big one and decided to change his fly and get him. He stood his pole against a tree, laid his string of fish on the ground, and started to change his hook, when his glasses fell from his nose.

After scratching around in the leaves for some time and failing to find his glasses, he went back to camp to get someone to help find them. Returning to the woods, he could not find the place where he had left his pole and fish as a marker, so he returned to Springfield to obtain new glasses.

Several weeks later, this man returned to Lake Sunapee and when fishing the same pool, he landed a large trout which was wearing his glasses.

The soldiers should get more than $21 a month. We are glad they will get it soon.

WEDDING RECEPTION

"Give me information on the wedding reception: Who stands in the receiving line . . . what refreshments should be served . . . and when does the bride throw her bouquet to the bridesmaids?"—B. V. B.

Answer: The bride's mother, the groom's mother and father stand in a receiving line near the door through which guests will enter. The groom's parents are introduced to arriving guests. The bride's father need not stand in the line, but instead may fulfill his duties as host, circulating among the guests.

Farther over in the room, in front of a bower of roses, or some other center of interest, is the bride's receiving line, composed of the bride at her husband's right and her attendants at her right. Here, she introduces her husband to her friends and he introduces his friends to her.

A morning wedding is followed by a luncheon. There must, of course, be a wedding cake, the first slice of which the bride should cut and share with the groom. An attendant should slice the remainder and serve the guests. If the wedding is large, there are usually two cakes—one being cut into small squares wrapped in waxed paper and put in small boxes to be given to departing guests.

An afternoon wedding is usually followed by a tea; a late afternoon wedding by a dinner and dance. A dance and late supper are given after an evening wedding. The bride may leave at any time after refreshments have been served and after she has danced with a few guests.

On her way upstairs to change to traveling clothes, the bride, according to custom, throws her bouquet over the banister to the group of bridesmaids assembled at the foot of the stairs. The one who catches it is supposed to be the next bride.

War Has Solidified Western Hemisphere
Even Chile And Argentine Are Wavering
Chileans Want Assurance Of Protection

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 11—If Pan-American chat has seemed a trifle copious lately, there's a sound reason for it. The anti-Axis war probably hasn't anything else to be said in its favor, but it certainly is entitled to credit for tying us new worldlings together in bonds of what promises to be enduring friendship. The pending conflict couldn't have popped up more opportunely for the purpose. A decade of Good Neighborliness had already taken a lot of effect, but something still was required to rub the idea in vigorously.

The war's pretty well done the business.

Our all-around western hemispherical interests are so obviously mutual that we can't but recognize how closely they're allied—that any one or two of our republics hanging out from the family are one or two mere orphans.

A couple of 'em, Chile and Argentina, still hang out in the orphan classification, but Chile started the other day to come in under the rooftree and the Pan-American Union has just adopted a system of unification that inevitably will include the Argentinos also. For heaven's sake, don't refer to 'em as "Argentinians" or it'll crab the whole program. They like it about as well as we'd like to be spoken of as "Americantinians".

How About Canada?

There are 21 of us Pan-American republics. I've always said that Canada ought to be a 22nd. Maybe it's been impracticable, owing to our Sister of the Snows' relations with Britain, but it belongs in our line-up.

And there are some little peewee islands and teeny-weeny continental overseas possessions that we're due to assimilate.

However, we're middling well now a cohesive empire.

Latin American statesmen, from presidents on down, have been Washington visitors lately, closing the dicker. The last of 'em was Dr. Parra-Perez of Venezuela.

But he's only one of a succession. Now, of the Latin Americas, war's been declared against the

The Navy Leads The Way

WASHINGTON, June 11

ONE OF the hardest things for a public man to do is to swim against the tide—and very few try it. There is slight nourishment in resisting trends — particularly when curtailment of expense and the abolition of jobs are involved. Success along these lines is always accompanied by resentment from the politicians and very little appreciation from the public.

FOR THESE reasons the present retrenchment drive of Secretary of the Navy Knox, strongly supported by Admiral King, is worth more notice than it has received—not because the results will be sensational (though they may be considerable) but because it marks a significant change in point of view and gives promise of a recovery of that sense of proportion, the lack of which has been an outstanding characteristic of this Administration.

UNTIL LAST week, when Mr. Knox issued his order insisting upon the elimination of waste and the abolition of unnecessary jobs, the system in the navy had been much the same as in other governmental departments. The efficiency of an agency was measured by its size. All up and down the line the effort was toward expansion. Every supervisor conceived it essential to build his particular unit up as large as possible. The aim was to be big. A small division was rated unimportant because it was small. Not until an organization had become unwieldy did it acquire esteem.

THIS IS a strange and senseless notion, but it has been prevalent in Washington for a long time. Written proof that it exists is contained in Mr. Knox's instructions to his aides concerning his new program. This is what he wrote: "There is a widespread, though false, impression that the grade of a position is determined solely by the number of persons supervised and the volume of work performed. I emphatically state that supervisors will not lose grade nor income through their efforts to carry out this program." Surely nothing could be more illuminating than that. In order to implement his program Mr. Knox first had to make it clear to his supervisors that the idea upon which they had been

THOSE BUREAUS!

There is no better evidence of the evils of a Bureaucracy that have overtaken this nation than the rationing of sugar.

Already the owners of the warehouses of this country where sugar is stored are complaining that they have room to store no more sugar. The warehouses in Cuba are filled to the doors with sugar that the Cubans cannot sell. Hawaiian sugar is coming in constantly for the ocean lanes between Hawaii and the West Coast are not filled with Axis submarines. No doubt the German submarines have prevented sugar from being exported from Cuba to this country, although it does seem it would be a little more economical to defend the short lane from Havana to Key West than spend the money in payment of thousands of Priorities Bureau employees to see that the sugar was properly rationed. The canning season is on just now and not only house wives but commercial canners want it and need it and what is to be done about the great fruit crops of this country that should be canned or if not canned, should be preserved in containers which it is possible to obtain?

I find another evidence of the extravagance of Bureaus in the set-up in San Diego, California, from which office it is decided to regulate the ceiling on prices charged for this, that and the other commodity. The government is taking a whole floor of a very large office building at a high rental. They are fitting operating was wrong and then he personally had to guarantee that when they reversed their direction and concentrated upon efficiency instead of size, they would not be penalized. It seems probable that no more revealing statement was ever made by the head of a government department to his subordinates. It is an unconscious confession not altogether without humor.

OF COURSE, the condition which Mr. Knox seeks to correct in the navy is the natural outcome of long years of multiplying governmental agencies, appropriating for them practically unlimited funds and promulgating the doctrine that thrift and economy are silly, debts and deficits are desirable and compactness has no relation to competency. Now, with the war billions pouring out and many thousands more men needed for the war effort, these tendencies have been greatly accelerated. There is keen competition among the new boards and commissions to grow great. The result is an organization so swollen and distorted that effective functioning is impossible and most of the competent men are overwhelmed by the confusion. Mr. Nelson recognized this the other day when he asked a committee to find out whether "we are growing top-heavy." Mr. Knox did not have to ask a committee. He knew.

JUST WHO in the higher navy circles first concluded that the wheels were clogged with red tape and the pay roll cluttered with useless people is not clear, but the action came from Mr. Knox and the credit should go to him. The slashing already has begun and the effect is salubrious. More work is being done with fewer people. Nor are the dropped jobholders just tossed out into the cold, cold world. All that is happening is that they are released from jobs where they had no useful work to do and made available for jobs in the armed services or defense factories where they really are needed. Thus, there is a net gain from both angles.

IT IS interesting that, in addition to his personal guarantee to the supervisors that they will not be punished for being efficient, Mr. Knox is offering a series of rewards, including cash bonuses and promotions, for those who most effectively reverse their direction and correct that "widespread (though false) impression" of which he spoke so revealingly. That impression was first created back in the halcyon days of Mr. Harry Hopkins when the merits of his WPA supervisors were measured by the number of people they could induce to go on the relief rolls. Since Pearl Harbor, the Secretary of the Navy has had a good many kicks in the pants—some of them well deserved. But, certainly he should get a few pats on the back for this apparently determined effort to abolish the long-established idea that everything must be sacrificed for size. Is it too much to hope that Mr. Knox's example will be followed by other department heads and not be frowned upon by the White House?

BIG ENOUGH TO GET IN THERE AND PITCH

Who knows?—How much sooner will it help win Victory because this Company and other utilities were on the job and ready with the power for industrial war production?

Who knows?—The details of local war activities are a military secret, but this you do know: There is a flood of material pouring to the front—material that will help tell the story of the terrific drive for Victory.

And this you may know, too: Your Pennsylvania Power Company has met and supplied every industrial electric need for turning out the war stuff to put in the hands of our boys, (and for backing up jobs of workers in factory, mine and mill here, too.) It's a 24-hour job—7 days a week. Our plants and lines are part of our country's war production duty.

We've kept our minds on our work. We've gone ahead building and strengthening facilities. There must be no interference with the uninterrupted production called for by President Roosevelt. We must be united in this hour that calls for the best in all of us.

So today, with America facing a crisis, we're able to do our part—to get in there and pitch, for home and country, and our boys. Isn't that worth plenty to you right now?

Pittsburgh Fireman Injured As Northside Explosion Traps Them

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—One man was killed and 25 others were injured early today when a jarring explosion of paint dryer rocked a northside plant as firemen were fighting flames in the basement of the building.

Thirteen of the injured were firemen, most of whom were trapped in the basement of the Watson-Standard Co. when the blast let go about 1:30 this morning. Others injured were civilian spectators and firemen outside who were seared by a sheet of flame which leaped 30 feet from the cellar window.

Hoseman Herman Rubaker died in Mercy hospital from his injuries. Three others were reported in serious condition.

The force of the explosion tore apart the rubber boots worn by the firemen and literally ripped their metal helmets into shreds. Many of the spectators were knocked down. Immediately afterwards, however, many civilians helped remove the injured firemen in ambulances, commandeered taxi-cabs and police patrols.

Fire Chief Edward Kerr, who estimated damage at $10,000, said the fire started while two employes were moving a 100-gallon drum of paint dryer in the cellar. He said the fire could have been caused by a spark as the men wheeled the huge drum across the floor.

The night watchman, two other employes and a firemen were reportedly blown clear out of the building by the blast.

Direct personal taxes in the United States in 1941 totaled about four billion dollars, the Department of Commerce reports.

Flash Floods Left Huge Highway Loss In Northeast Area

Pennsylvania Faces Outlay Of $640,000 For Roads, 66 Spans

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 11.—Approximately $640,000 will have to be expended by the highways department to repair highways and 66 bridges damaged in the recent flash flood that swept northeastern Pennsylvania last month, H. R. Moffitt, chief maintenance engineer, estimated today.

He pointed out that about $500,000 is needed to repair or replace the bridges while the balance of the money would be earmarked for highway reconstruction. Many of the bridges, formerly built with steel, will have to be repaired with other materials until the department can obtain steel to rebuild them, Moffitt said.

Rotarians Guests At Dinner Given By Farmers Of County

One hundred and forty men thronged the dining hall of East Brook High school last night when a group of Lawrence county farmers entertained members of the New Castle Rotary club in return for a winter program the Rotarians sponsored for them.

The reciprocal dinners have become established annual affairs.

It was several years ago that the Rotary rural-urban affairs committee hit upon the idea of inviting farm men to a luncheon, to enjoy a talk by a speaker known to farmers and for all around good fellowship.

So Return Dinners Started

And soon after the first Rotary invitation went out, the agriculturalists—and all are leaders in their lines—decided to repay the club by playing host at some rural grange or school.

So last night the Rotary membership forgot the heat to mingle with their farm brothers and listen to Ross M. Gridley, popular farm agent of Beaver county, talk briefly about motion pictures he took on a country-wide tour. He has entitled the three reels, "These We Defend," and the fitting theme stresses the rolling farm lands, the attractive farm homes which the military forces of America are fighting to preserve.

P.-T. A. Members Serve

Before the films were viewed, the men enjoyed a chicken and biscuit dinner prepared and served to a kings' taste by the women of the East Brook Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. D. B. McKnight is president of the group.

After dinner, Clair Pollock of Plaingrove, and his son, favored the audience with instrumental numbers. Pep singing was in charge of Rotarians B. H. Kannenberg and John O. Huston.

Chairman of the dinner arrangements was R. P. Peebles, prominent Scott township farmer, and assisting him was a group of hard-working associates.

Serving with Peebles were Seth Neeley, Plaingrove township; Everett Boak, Slippery Rock township; Norman Emery, North Beaver township; H. A. Bradley, Pulaski township; Fred Lusk, Wilmington township, and Glenn Patterson, Hickory township.

U. S. O. Drive But $1,000 Short Now

Roger W. Rowland, Lawrence county USO drive Chairman, announced today that the campaign was but $1,000 short of the goal and he urged that all workers who have not made their returns yet, to do so immediately to R. L. Meermans at the YMCA.

Volant made its returns today and surpassed its quota of $100 easily. Rowland praised the spirit of the workers in this little community and said that he hopes the rest of the divisions still unreported would do as well.

Detours For East Side Buses

Because of the removal of street car rails on the East Washington street route, General Manager Thomas of the S. V. T. company today announced two East Side detours as follows:

West-bound buses are being detoured from East Washington street via Rose avenue, Stanton avenue and Maryland avenue.

East-bound buses are being detoured from East Washington street via Lathrop street, Huron avenue and Arlington avenue.

AMERICAN FLIERS TELL STORY OF JAPS DEFEAT AT MIDWAY

third," Captain Tokarz, who looks like a young Clark Gable, told this correspondent.

"The ship was flaming from stem to stern. It was a beautiful sight seeing those heavy bombs hit the bullseye.

"The next day we connected four times on a carrier and once on a cruiser.

"Jap anti-aircraft shot away one of our motors and we fought through the last day on three engines. Shrapnel peppered the plane and Zeros machine-gunned fancy designs in our ship but we got home without a single casualty."

Deal Stunning Blow

The amazing stories which members of Topkarz's crew and others from the highest officers to enlisted gunners exceeded the greatest imagination. Fearless and courageous in the action, the Americans rode the wings of death and spent days living in a nightmare of hell to deal the Japs the stunning blow which is expected to change the entire picture of the Pacific war.

When the astounding individual account is jig-sawed into a coherent picture the Midway rout becomes a masterful feat that will live forever in the annals of war. For 90 percent of the American airmen that action was their baptism of fire and they all emerged heroes.

Col. Sweeny's story of the flying fortress assaults follows:

"We came out down from the sun on June third at the Jap invaders. Twenty ships steamed along in two columns without plane protection. They deployed when they spotted us, going into violent maneuvers.

"The conversation coming in on the inter-phones is not printable. Our boys couldn't restrain their joy and excitement.

"The Japs sent up a terrific barrage of anti-aircraft fire. My bombardier yelled 'my God, those anti-aircraft shells are big and pretty through the bombsight.'

"We let them have many loads in pattern bombing. We got a couple of transports and at least five others, including a cruiser and two battleships.

Relocate Japs

"The following day was the best. We took off at dawn after navy PB-Y's relocated the Japs. We were about 100 miles at sea flying at a high altitude.

"We spotted them 34 minutes later drawn up in battle line. A task force had joined the invasion force. Cruisers, battleships and destroyers circled the carriers. All hid under clouds and visibility was poor. They looked pretty but formidable.

"We came in over the clouds from out of the sun. Each of our planes picked a target and let go. Anti-aircraft fire came up around us, exploding in little black puffs. It smelled like fire crackers. Jap Zeros took off toward us. We saw several hits.

"Fires broke out and black smoke poured from three ships. Then our navy and marine dive-bombers roared toward the Japs.

"It was a picnic. Many planes were zooming and soaring in dog fighting. It was the damndest show you ever saw."

All Are Youths

None of the crew aboard Captain Tokarz's plane was over 24 years of age. They included Lieut. E. T. Furchner, of Grant's Pass, Ore., the co-pilot; Lieut. Richard Lehr, of Cleveland; Lieut. L. G. Fisher, of Arkadelphia, Ark.; Sgt. Michel Russel, Birmingham; Sgt. Lavern Bechtel, Dallas Center, Ia.; Sgt. Horst Handrow, of Sheboygan, Wisc.; Mark Roberts of Bridgeport, Conn., and Bill Hanford of Houston, Tex.

The Midway victory was a birthday present for the chief of the ground crew, Sgt. Hubert Hington, of Covington, Ga., who just turned 27.

"This was the happiest damn birthday I ever had," he drawled.

The plane crew praised the cooperation between the navy, army and marine fliers.

"It was like a championship football team. We really clicked so beautifully the Japs did not have a chance," said one.

Describing the second day of battling over the sea, Captain Tokarz said:

"We took off from Midway and flew off in the opposite direction to avoid Jap Zeros. PB-Y scouts advised us they were about.

"We went up to a very high altitude and hid in the clouds until we thought the Japanese were back to their carriers. We proceeded to the target area an hour later where we had poor visibility. The Jap fleet hid under the clouds and we had to maneuver for a half hour before we could get a crack at them.

Shoot At Carrier

"Finally we got a shot at a big Jap carrier. Nine planes of our squadron came down and let go many heavy bombs. Then the navy fighters came in. The air was filled with hundreds of ships. We got two Zeros and maybe three.

"The Jap fleet circled crazily. We could see four ships burning. There was heavy black smoke. The carrier we hit was rolling sidewards."

The crew, asked if they were scared during the engagement, admitted that they did not know.

"Maybe we should have been scared but everything happened so fast we did not have time to think about anything except socking it to the Japs," Lieut. Fisher, the red-haired, quiet mannered navigator said.

"The worse thing of the entire battle was when four Jap Zeros got on the tail of a marine flier. The marine shot down two Japs but then the other Japs got him.

"The marine bailed out and on the way down in his parachute the Japs machine-gunned him clear to the water."

The crew described the ordeal, just as Gen. Sherman, as hell. During four days, they said, they did not remove their clothes and averaged only four hours sleep each night. They slep on the plane floor and in a ditch at Midway.

The story of Lieut. Jack D. Whidden, 24, of Van Nuys, Cal., who flew a B-24, was similar.

"We peeled off from a high altitude and came in through thick ack-ack. It was too thick. A shell hit our left wing and it crashed like a sledge hammer.

"One Zero got on our tail and fired a burst of bullets. When he flipped over my tail gunner got him and roared:

"'We knocked the hell out of him.'

"As we climbed into the clouds I saw we had hit a destroyer.

"There is nothing to the Japs," Lieut. Whidden contended. "The B-17 will win this war."

Former Pupils Of Gaston Sunday School In Reunion

Gathering Wednesday Is One Of Largest In History Of Annual Reunions

One of the largest attendances which has marked the annual reunions of former pupils and descendants of those who founded and attended the Gaston Sunday school which was established by Mr. and Mrs. John McKay just 60 years ago, was noted yesterday, when the group gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Magill, Garfield avenue, for the annual event.

A picnic dinner was served at noon on the spacious lawn of the Magill home, and later an informal program was presented, with Mrs. Magill, the permanent president, in charge. Reports were given by the various officers, Mrs. Miflin Tindall, vice president; Mrs. Susie Rigby, treasurer, and Mrs. Frank Alborn, secretary. A letter was read from Mrs. Robert Maitland, who is in Florida.

The general committee was composed of Howard Magill, Tad Kirker, Frank Andrews, John Campbell, Frank Alborn, Charles Andrews, while the dinner arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Tad Kirker, Mrs. John Campbell, Mrs. Mae McConaghy, Mrs. Della Claypool and Mrs. Mary Scott.

Mrs. Scott Hamilton gave a resume of affairs as they pertain to the association and recounted the events of the past year.

Some of the early pastors who came and spoke at the Sunday school were recalled, including Dr. Arthur Brown, Rev. Calkins and Rev. Dunlap, who came from the city's leading churches.

Mrs. Mary Wright Dean read an original poem which had been written by Mrs. Henry Weinschenk, who is ill and was unable to attend yesterday's gathering.

A membership committee of Mrs. Alex Cowmeadow, Mrs. Chauncey Yoho, Mrs. Kate Black, Mrs. Rebecca McBride, Mrs. Jane Anderson and Mrs. Elizabeth Pettigrew reported.

A memorial service was conducted by Miss Annetta Butler for the late Mrs. Orrie Weinschenk Alborn.

The group sent greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McKay of St. Cloud, Fla., who are both seriously ill and who were among those who attended the old school.

Air Warden Situation Here Moves Slowly

Chief Air Raid Warden Sargent Dissatisfied; Wants More Action

Frank T. Sargent, chief air raid warden for the city of New Castle today announced dissatisfaction with the response to his appeal for air raid wardens. He asserted the call for defensive aid has not had a hearty answer. More men and women are needed. They should apply at city civil defense headquarters in council chambers, city hall.

He outlined tonight's meetings as follows:

Fourth ward air raid wardens and prospective wardens meet at eight o'clock in Ben Franklin Junior high school.

Sixth ward (second precinct) prospective wardens meet at eight o'clock in the Union Brewery.

Eighth ward prospective air raid wardens meet in Alderman B. J. Biondi's office to organize squads in all precincts.

Friday night at eight o'clock air wardens and prospective wardens will meet in the tenth precinct of the Second ward voting place at Highland avenue and Clenmore boulevard.

Arrangements for Seventh ward meetings Friday night will be announced Friday afternoon, he asserted.

Relative to the proposed blackout here June 25, Sargent stated it is under army direction and not under city defense committee action.

According to the chief air raid warden, local people who can serve, are not taking the situation seriously enough.

He advised that people abandon their spirit of "Let George Do It" and act immediately, instead of waiting until it may be too late to give good service in case of possible air raids.

ST. JOSEPH'S SODALITY

Members of the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Joseph's church will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the lodge rooms of St. Joseph's church.

Wants 2,000 Small Planes To Wipe Out Coast U-Boats

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Senator C. Wayland Brooks (R) Ill., today demanded that 2,000 small planes and pilots in the Civil Air Patrol be put on active duty under such famous flyers as Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker to wipe out the submarine menace along the eastern seaboard.

Emphasizing that the nation is engaged in total war, Brooks said: "It is up to us to make use of every resource at our command. In the Civil Air Patrol we have a resource that is not being used—at least to the fullest possible extent. More than that, it is not on active duty except on a volunteer basis at some points in Virginia and east."

Brooks loosed his blast soon after learning that the army and navy have asked for 200 blimps to patrol the seaboard.

"Why wait for the blimps?" he queried. "Admittedly they are the best device for the purpose, but our problem is already with us and the blimps are not."

Brooks said that registrations of the Civil Atronautics Authority show there are thousands of small, privately-owned planes available for service perhaps as many as 25,000. Of these, 2,000 are equipped with two-way radio making them suitable for submarine patrol duty.

These ships have a top speed of 95 miles an hour, can land at 45 to 50 miles an hour and, Brooks said, "can land in a cornfield."

They need no special equipment for fueling, he asserted, a five gallon can being suitable for the purpose.

In addition to the pilot, they can carry a load of 380 pounds. Brooks said this load could be divided into 80 pounds for a rubber boat and radio, and the balance used for three depth charges of 100 pounds each.

"If these planes with their small depth charges and radios did nothing else they could keep the submarines at an underwater level where they could do no damage," he said.

It was Brooks' opinion that the whole program could be put in successful operation in four to six weeks. He said he had recently gone over the plan in detail with Maj. Al Williams, famous military speed pilot and that Williams had endorsed it in these words: "There isn't a bug in it."

City Marines Like Duty At Navy Yard

Eleven Local Men In Same Barracks, Castele Writes

After spending eight weeks at the Marine Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S. C., 11 New Castle men are now stationed at the Navy yard in Philadelphia, Ted Castele revealed today, in a letter to a member of The News staff.

The 11 Marines, Castele, Russo, Di Carlo, Audino, Berner, Salmen, Maciarello, Tewell, Cartwright, Minteer and Flansburg are in the same barracks at Marine Base No. 3.

Five other New Castle Marines have been at Philadelphia for about a month. They are Bill Wallace, Danny Fusco, Lou Hazen, Alex Pascarella and Bob Rowan.

Five others are still at Parris Island. They are Russ McBride, Eddie Yearge, Dixie Dewberry, James Eagan and Vincent Dorsey.

The local boys stationed in Philadelphia send regards to Mayor Charles B. Mayne, L. B. Round, Sergt. Johnny Dean, Dick Rentz, Ed Fritz, Charles Landolf, and Bart Richards. Castele's letter concludes. They get The News and keep in touch with the home town in that fashion.

Civil Defense Not Mayor's Job, Landis Tells New Yorkers

OCD Director, At Syracuse, Says They Should Be Full-Time Officers

(International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 11.—The New York State conference of mayors and other municipal officials were told that local civilian defense heads should be salaried, full-time officials.

The advice was offered by James M. Landis, federal civilian defense director, who asserted that it was not a job for the mayor.

At the same time, Landis told the convention that the success of the civilian defense program depended upon the ability of the municipalities to enlist the "loyalties and activities of the ordinary people."

"It may be that in municipalities of small size, the mayor can carry the lead of organizing and coordinating defense activities in addition to the burden of normal municipal affairs," Landis said. "But it would appear that in larger metropolitan areas a local defense council can be guided only by a salaried, full-time official appointed by and responsible to the municipal executive or chosen by the council itself."

Bands Combine To Furnish Music At Farewell Programs

American Legion, High School And Croton Bands Will Be Merged

At a special meeting of the music committee of the Lawrence County Service Men's Aid Association held last night it was decided that the send-off band for selectees for the coming months would be composed of members of the Legion, high school and Croton bands and rather than have every band attempt to get its own members together they would all unite and members of each would comprise the band that will serve. They will not be known by any special name but are cooperating as a patriotic gesture.

At the meeting last evening there were Captain Carl Andreasen, Lee Hanna, George Hunt, Joe Replogle, George Moore, Dorothy Patch and Christina Giancotti.

It was also decided at the meeting that Miss Christina Giancotti was to act as leader and majorette for the summer and that she would be assisted in this by the other members of the music committee.

The Legion has consented to let the band use the uniforms of that organization and also the instruments at their disposal.

Dewey Assured Of Nomination

Will Be Named As Candidate For Governor Of New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Thomas E. Dewey is practically assured of the Republican gubernatorial nomination when the G.O.P. state convention meets in August, it was learned today.

The former New York racketbuster has been pledged 938 of the 1,680 delegates votes, exclusive of New York county, his home, which has purposely refrained from taking action.

The site of the Republican conclave will be determined when the state committee meets in Albany on June 19.

Meanwhile, Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. gained 81 more delegate pledges in his bid for the Democratic gubernatorial post when John A. Roe, Queens, bound his organization to the Brooklyn candidate.

School Directors Meet Wednesday

Many Minor Matters Are Acted On At Session Last Night

Unable to arrive at any definite figure as to the total cost of lowering ceilings, and plastering walls in the West Side and Thaddeus Stevens schools, the New Castle school board rejected two bids on Wednesday night at the monthly meeting of the board.

Most of the work is repair work and bids were asked for on a square yard basis. Board members asked how many square yards would be entailed in the repairing and S. G. Ligo, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said that this could not be accurately estimated as the walls were old and only by tearing off the damaged plaster could the area of damage be known.

Use Buildings

Councilman D. O. Davies and Air Raid Warden Frank T. Sargent appeared before the board and asked if school buildings could be used for air raid instruction classes. The board said it would co-operate at any time the buildings were needed.

The Marine league was granted permission to use the Taggart Stadium for a Marine Day review on July 4.

The board was notified by County Controller F. W. Hill that a settlement of the claims entailed in the regime of W. O. Pitts, county treasurer could be made with the bonding company if the board would accept the face of the claims without interest. The offer was accepted and the board will get $1051.17.

Eleven new text books were adopted for use in the schools, four of them for vocational training classes and seven for the junior high schools.

Contracts Let

Kline Lumber company was awarded a bid for lumber for use in the industrial arts classes at their bid of $344.45.

The Lawrence Supply company was awarded the contract for installing a boiler section in the Rose Avenue school at its bid of $437.

Health education equipment contract was awarded to the Sporting Goods company at its bid of $1513.14 and for athletic equipment at its bid of $1045.06.

Text books in the amount of $6819 for the coming year were ordered purchased.

Dr. A. A. Newmark was re-elected health director of the school system at a salary of $2600 and Dr. William Jones re-elected as school dentist as a salary of $2200.

To Buy Coal

Bids were authorized for the coal supply for the coming year. The bids will call for all or part of 3700 tons.

Bids will be asked for a supply of electric lamps for the coming year, the total to run about $300.

There is a possibility that the school swimming pools will be limited to students only in the coming school year. Chlorine is difficult to get and in the past term it was necessary to close the Franklin pool before the end of school because of lack of chlorine. Secretary John B. Bechtol suggested that the supply be purchased now and the decision as to barring outsiders from the pool will come later.

New Instructor

James Cann was elected as an instructor in the Vocational school to have charge of machine shop instruction in a new shift that is being put on for the summer.

Permanent contracts were ordered entered into with the following professional employes who have served the required two-year probationary contract. Clare B. Book, Bertha Boya Thompson, Morgan Jones, Roy Kirkpatrick, Geneva F. Walker. Morgan Jones was also granted a military leave effective June 5.

Bills for supplies purchased during the past month in the amount of $5345.19 were approved for payment.

Army Drops Plan On Rehabilitation

Draftees' Tests Failed, Maj. Gen. Hershey Tells Doctors

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 11.—The army has dropped its plan to rehabilitate men rejected for service because of physical disabilities, it was revealed today at the American Medical Association annual convention.

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, explained to the delegates that the program was abandoned after preliminary tests in Maryland and Virginia proved futile.

He said the tests did not justify the continuance of the program and asserted that lack of hospital space and doctors because of wartime pressure combined with the lowering of army standards which detoured 20 per cent of those formerly rejected back into 1-A and 1-B classifications were the deciding factors.

General Hershey said he would ask the War Manpower Board or some other federal agency to undertake the job as neither the Army nor Selective Service wanted it.

Dr. Willis C. Beasley, of the United States public health service's national institute at Bethesda, Md., described new hearing aids, which like eyeglasses, are adjusted to fit the individual.

He said that tests conducted on 9,000 cases disclosed that the human ear's ability to hear high, medium and low frequency tones changes with advancing years. The new hearing aides filters out certain tones and amplifies other, dependent on the individual case.

Sunday: The Risen Christ And His Disciples

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Thomas the doubter.

"Ye are witnesses of these things."—Luke 24:48.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 14 is Luke 24:1-48, the Golden Text being Luke 24:48, "Ye are witnesses of these things.")

The resurrection of Jesus took place on Sunday, April 9, A. D. 30. Three women, Mary Magdalene, Joanna and Mary, the mother of James, according to St. Luke, had prepared various spices and ointments on Friday, after the crucifixion, with which to annoint the body as soon as the Sabbath was over.

These three went to the tomb very early Sunday morning. To their surprise the heavy stone which closed it was gone. Looking in they realized it was empty, the body vanished. Much perplexed, they turned away to see two men in shining garments standing near them. As the women bowed down in fear before the holy visitors, the men asked, "Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen: remember how He spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee, saying, The Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again."

And the women remembered Jesus' words, and left the sepulchre and told it to the disciples and all the rest. But their story seemed to Christ's followers "as idle tales, and they believed them not."

Peter Goes to Tomb

Peter, however, must have believed them, or been made curious by their story, for he ran to the tomb, and looking in, saw the linen clothes which Jesus had worn laid by themselves. Going his way Peter "wondered to himself at that which was come to pass."

The disciples, one Cleopas, the name of the other unknown, were walking from Jerusalem after the Passover, to the village of Emmaus, whose location is now not unknown. As they walked they talked sadly of their leader and teacher, Jesus, who had been so cruelly put to death. A man joined them, but they did not recognize their Lord, as "their eyes were holden." He asked them why they were talking so sadly. They told Him, asking if He was a stranger that He did not know of the event.

"O fools, and slow of heart," Jesus answered, "to believe all that the prophets have spoken:

"Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into His glory?" And beginning at Moses and the prophets, He expounded the scriptures to them. Drawing near the village, He was about to leave them, but they would not let Him, saying, "Abide with us." He went with them, and as they ate, He "took bread, blessed it and brake it, and gave to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knew Him; and He vanished out of their sight."

How excited these faithful followers of the Lord were! They said to each other, "Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us by the way, and while He opened to us the scriptures?" And they went back to Jerusalem and found the 11 (Thomas was not with the others), and said: "The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon." They they told about their walk and talk and how the Lord was revealed to them when He brake and blessed the bread.

As they spoke, Jesus Himself stood in their midst, and said, "Peace be unto you." Strange to say, however, His disciples were terrified, thinking they were seeing a ghost. "Why are ye troubled?" Jesus asked them. "Behold My hands and My feet, that it is Myself; handle Me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see Me have."

To further reassure them, He asked them to give Him something to eat, and when they gave Him some broiled fish and honeycomb, He ate it to prove that it was indeed their dear Lord arisen from the dead.

"Then opened He their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures. And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day:

"And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among the nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

"And ye are witnesses of these things."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills

City Solicitor Says Street Resurfacing Is Duty Of State

All street car rails have been removed the trenches filled in Highland avenue. The turn-out switches and west-bound tracks at Mill and Washington streets have been removed and are being resurfaced and rails are now being removed from the East Washington street terminus of the former street car line.

Because of this, citizens now are asking who will resurface not only Highland avenue, but also other thoroughfares considered state highway continuations and in which street cars formerly operated.

Solicitor Robert White, legal representative of city council, was asked today if the city would resurface Highland avenue and other streets considered state highway continuations and which reportedly have been maintained by the state.

"The city has no responsibility in Highland avenue or similar thoroughfares and therefore has no right to do the resurfacing," he stated.

Since the P.U.C. granted the application of the New Castle Street Electric Railway for permission to abandon its street car franchise here, White has maintained that the city also was relieved of any responsibility it may have had.

In view of this position, council has instructed the city engineer's department that the bureau no longer issue permits for excavations in Highland avenue. The permits must be secured from the state highway department, council has ruled.

The ceremony was performed in the living room of the bride's home, before an improvised alter, banked with ferns and flowers. Rev. I. J. Goehring, uncle of the bride performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Hayner, pastor of Burry's church.

The young couple were unattended.

The bride wore a pink gown, street length, with white accessories, and a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served by the bride's mother, to 33 guests.

Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Pflug were tendered a serenade at the home of the groom's parents. They responded very graciously with a treat and Mrs. E. A. Pflug assisted by several ladies served lunch to the 100 guests present. The young couple received a nice collection of beautiful and useful gifts. Many Enrolled To Relieve Farm Labor Shortage

Situation In Lawrence County Will Be Remedied If Farmers Avail Selves Of Offers

OVER 300 HAVE OFFERED TO HELP

If Lawrence county farmers avail themselves of the offers of assistance made by city youths and WPA laborers, the farm labor shortage in Lawrence county, will be greatly alleviated, it is announced today.

Requests made by the War Labor board have resulted in 275 youths between the ages of 12 and 18, and around 75 WPA laborers enrolling to work on Lawrence county farms. Most of these registrations are inexperienced, but are willing, and with a little coaching, it is believed would be able to do a splendid job.

It is expected to have a meeting on next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock with local farmers at the state employment office here, when those who are in need of farm help will be given an opportunity to interview some of the registrants.

Farmers are urged to take advantage of the offer made by these registrants, as it is believed the labor situation will become more acute as the war progresses.

North Side Church Services Continue

Colored sand artistry is being featured in special services at the North Side Community church, Wilmington road at Euclid avenue, Rev. Miles Cottrell, pastor, where Rev. T. J. Keegan, Irish evangelist, is in charge.

Some of the featured pictures are entitled "The Church by the Side of the Road", "The House by the Side of the Road" and "Remember Pearl Harbor But Don't Forget Calvary". One of these will be featured Friday and Sunday evenings. A beautiful colored chalk picture is made each evening during the song service and presented as an attendance prize. Special music is also a part of each service.

On Friday evening a colored chalk picture will be made before the audience by the 15-year-old son of the evangelist.

association, is presiding this afternoon. President Robert M. Strickler, re-elected today, was in the presiding chair this morning.

A conference fellowship dinner will be served in the church at 6 o'clock. The night service will start at 7:30.

Resolutions Approved

Resolutions adopted at the downown session follow:

To the 104th convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association, the committee on resolutions submits the following:

I.

We gratefully acknowledge the blessings of God Almighty from whom cometh every good and perfect gift. We praise Him for His wonderful works toward the children of men and thank Him for His greatest gift, the Lord Jesus Christ, who loves us and whose blood cleanseth us from all sin.

II.

We reaffirm the supreme purpose of the Sabbath school; namely, to make the name of Jesus known, for "Neither is there salvation in any other for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved."

III.

In this day of world conflict and turmoil we call upon Christians to confess their sins and turn from them, for God's Word says, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and will heal their land." II Chronicles 7:14.

IV.

We urge the Christian people to observe the Lord's Day through church and Bible school attendance, prayer, worship and Bible study and to increase their efforts to win souls to Christ and to discourage all pursuits which tend to commercialize and secularize the Christian Sabbath.

V.

In the face of growing intemperance and lawlessness, let us teach total abstinence as the Christian's responsibility to his fellowmen. "It is good neither to eat flesh nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak." Romans 14:21.

VI.

We are grateful to the New Castle News for the great amount of free publicity that it gives to our churches and Sabbath schools and for its continued refusal to publish liquor advertisements.

VII.

We thank our county and district officers for their faithfulness, leadership and service.

VIII.

We thank the pastor and the people of the First Presbyterian church for their kind hospitality in entertaining our convention, and the speakers, officers and committees whose efforts have made this convention a help and a blessing to us.

The resolutions committee included: Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, chairman; Rev. F. P. Sulmonetti, Rev. W. R. Sommerfield, Paul D. Weller, J. W. Miller, Mrs. Olive Book, Miss Mary Ramsey, Charles S. Davis.

70th Reunion Of Consistory Ends Tonight

Conferring Of Degrees Will Be Concluded Tonight With Dinner A Feature

FAMILY NIGHT TO OCCUR NEXT WEEK

With the conferring of the 32nd degree today, the 70th reunion of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, A. A. S. R., will be brought to a close, when one of the largest classes in many years will have been initiated into the order.

The degree work was resumed this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and between the afternoon and evening degrees dinner will be served to the membership in attendance.

Quite a number were present last evening despite the extreme heat and threatening weather, a large number of additional candidates presenting themselves for the Consistory degrees. This evening's attendance is expected to be the largest of the reunion.

The customary dinner party, which occurs in the closing day of the reunion, has been held over until Friday evening, June 19, when a fine program of entertainment will be presented, which will include entertainment, motion pictures, dancing and cards. Reservations are now being made for this event.

Bir Hachiem Base Heavily Attacked

British And Free French Defenders Battle Valiantly In Libya

(International News Service)

CAIRO, June 11.—British and Free French defenders of the Bir Hacheim base in Libya battled valiantly today against continued heavy attacks by Axis forces.

The British Middle East high command disclosed a communique that air attacks were being launched against Bir Hacheim on an increased scale.

"British armored forces and air forces, assisted the Free French in repelling further enemy attacks at Bir Hacheim," the communique said.

Base Beleaguered

The beleaguered base is situated at the southern extremity of the 60-mile desert battle front.

A series of fierce engagements have been fought at the oasis stronghold, with the Free French defenders, assisted by reinforcements of British tanks and planes, repulsing heavy repeated Axis attacks.

British airmen were reported hammering German concentrations before Bir Hacheim from extremely low altitudes, ignoring the enemy anti-aircraft fire and shooting up the gun crews, troops and supply transport columns at point blank range.

Fighting in the north in the vicinity of Knightsbridge has dropped off to a virtual standstill since German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel sent the bulk of his mechanized units into the assault on Bir Hacheim. Fall of the British base would clear Rommel's right flank and enable him to make a dangerous advance. He might conceivably force British Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie to retire toward the Egyptian border.

Jewett Urges Auto Riders 'Double Up'

GNCA Executive Reports On Industry Progress At Kiwanis Luncheon

New Castle Kiwanians were urged to "double up in your automobiles when you can" in an address Roger Jewett, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association delivered at the club's weekly luncheon in The Castleton.

Jewett referred to Office of Defense Transportation requests on the saving of rubber during a message which brought an up-to-date report on industrial developments locally. He spoke briefly of construction progress at the two new plants, the United Engineering & Foundry Co. and the Standard Steel Springs Co.

City Treasurer C. C. McKibben, member of Kiwanis, was chairman of the program.

The election is the last of a series conducted by the National Labor Relations Board in subsidiaries of United State Steel corporation. The CIO union, formerly the Steelworkers Organizing Committee, swept all previous elections by huge majorities.

Fourteen of the plants are located in the Pittsburgh area, while the remainder are centered in Ohio, West Virginia and Illinois.

Pennsylvania's Home Front

(By International News Service)

By FRANCIS J. BURKE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Pennsylvania's war program will soon be concentrated on the collection of scrap rubber—so start saving now. The campaign, which is even more vital than the successful waste paper drive, will stress items in addition to tires. They include overshoes, rubber gloves, fan belts, old rubberized raincoats. In fact, practically everything of rubber composition but battery boxes, hose containing asbestos and rubber floor tiling.

An efficient plan of caring for the transportation needs of Pennsylvania's war workers may evolve from a survey being carried out in Philadelphia by the war production board. Local carriers, railroads, war plants and governmental agencies all are participating in the checkup to see how and when the workmen travel. All the reports will be turned over to the transportation companies for action.

War orders totaling $108,223,172 have been booked by Reading manufacturers to date. The huge volume of business has caused the city's Chamber of Commerce to call on its members to make every effort to conserve the supply of freight cars and to make the most of the available facilities.

Chester county residents are fully prepared for an emergency with "blitz bundles." A blitz bundle is a package containing two blankets, two sheets, two towels, a wash cloth, a cake of soap and sometimes a small pillow with two pillow cases. They're for the use of evacuees.

With the advent of summer, the Pennsylvania OPA is making an all-out effort to enlist the commonwealth's boys and girls in the salvage programs. The first youth campaign is expected to be held in connection with the tin collection program. Philadelphia, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Pittsburgh are five of the 26 cities now conducting tin can collections.

The propeller division of Curtiss-Wright Corporation presents its WPB slogan contest winner. It's "speed 'em for freedom," and was submitted by Earl Myers of the firm's milling inspection department.

Lafayette College in Easton is doing its bit not only academically but materially. The school has turned over for the war effort 60 tons of structural and reinforcing steel originally destined for its stadium. Dr. William Mather Lewis, Lafayette president, once headed the Pennsylvania Selective Service System.

At the Westinghouse plant in Pittsburgh, Engineer R. H. Wright announced a system of harnessing the power once wasted during the breaking-in of new airplane engines. Instead of just burning up high-grade fuel, Wright said, the engines on test now can produce enough electric power to supply all the machines and lights in the factories where the engines are built.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has won an award of merit from the treasury department. Ninety-four per cent of its employes are buying war bonds by means of payroll deductions.

City Leaguers Battle Tonight

Tigers Play Host To Croton A. C.; West Pittsburg Faces Elder Aggregation

MOOSE-INDIES ON CEDAR FIELD

Provided the fickle weatherman gives his approval, City Baseball leaguers will unfurl another round of pyrotechnics tonight.

The program is bubbling over with appeal. With the sudden conversion of the race into a wide open affair, with the exception of the West Side Tigers, the local baseball populace is expected to toss the dishes in the sink following dinner and hustle off to the four grounds.

Croton, its first place league whittled down to the thickness of a tooth pick, feels certain of bettering its position at the expense of the last place West Side Tigers. The game which, like the other three will begin at six o'clock, is booked for Lee avenue field.

The leaders were on the wrong end of a 7-1 count in their clash with the Moose club Tuesday. A setback at the claws of the Tigers will remove Croton from first place, provided either West Pittsburg or the Moose win.

Moose club, tied with West Pittsburg for second place honors, rolls against the Lawrence Indies on Cedar street grounds. This looms as one of the more interesting battles of the evening.

Elders Home

Marshall field should produce a sizzler. The Scott street plant will be the scene of the West Pittsburg-Elder A. C. scrap. The "Gashouse Gang" is stymied for second with seven wins against five losses. The Elder, loser only five times, still has an excellent chance of nailing up the first half bunting.

On Bessemer high field, an inspired Bessemer nine hopes to fatten its win list when it takes on the Slovaks. The Cementers edged into the title doings by spanking the Indies last night, 4-3. The Slovaks sport a 4-4 mark.

LEAGUE DUST

Inverness Tourney Firing Begins Today

Topnotch Stars Start Swinging In Toledo For $7,650 Prizes

TOLEDO, O., June 11.—Sixteen of professional golf's top-notch performers today began play in the eighth annual Inverness invitational tourney with $7,650 in prizes awaiting at the end of the four-day grind.

The tourney is played in round-robin style, with the pros paired into eight teams. They were to play a single round today and two rounds on each of the next three days, with each twosome meeting every other duo for 18 holes.

Match winners are given a plus score equal to the number of holes they finish ahead and the losers get a corresponding minus. The winning team takes $1,650 in cash and $500 in war bonds and other prizes are scaled down to $300 in cash and $250 in bonds for the last place duo.

Pairings in the opening round sent Horton Smith and Melvin (Chic) Harbett against Jimmy Hines and Herman Barron; Henry Pickard and Sam Byrd against Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper; Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan, last year's champs against Dutch Harrison and Denny Shute, and Byron Nelson and Jimmy Thomson against Lloyd Mangrum and Lawson Little.

Sylvan Heights League Race Is Interesting One

Potters And Saegerstown Are Tied Following Last Night's Matches

Saegertowns took advantage of the situation in the Sylvan Heights golf league race in last evening's matches, downing Universal Hi Fired by a score of 6-0, while the erstwhile leaders, Shenango Pottery, were being nosed out by Ellwood City Moose, 3½ to 2½, in a gruelling match. As a result, the lead is tied, and five teams are bunched at the top, with only three more matches to be played in the first half race.

The players were just as hot as the weather last night, Frank DeMauro scoring a deuce on the par-4 No. 3 hole, and Fred Lombardo kicking in with an eagle three on the par-5 No. 2 hole. DeMauro and Harry Toscano paced the field with sub-par rounds of 35, while Joe Mazzeri was even par with 36. Mitty Macioge, Ang Cimini and James Gaione were one over with 37's, Jackie Snyder, Pete Dimeco, Marty Segedi and Stan Bukowski had 38's and Andy Justine, Pezzi, Fred Lombardo, Marty Kovach, Joe Giangulio and George Sargent all had 39's.

Three teams made a clean sweep, Duca A'Bruzzi defeating Universal A. A., 6-0; New Castle Moose defeating Frediani's, 6-0, and Saegertowns defeating Universal Hi Fired, 6-0. Ellwood City Moose winning from Shenango Pottery, 3½-2½, and Shelby Social and Unions splitting, 3-3.

The standing is as follows:

Shenango Pottery	23½
Saegertowns	23½
Ellwood City Moose	23
New Castle Moose	21½
Shelby Social	20½
Duca D'Abruzzi	18
Unions	17½
Frediani's	11½
Universal Hi Fired	10½

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Thursday "p. m." sportsreel in short meter:

Glad to learn that A. G. Cappezzutti, Bessemer high's competent athletic chief, is improving in Jamison Memorial hospital. "Cappy" sustained facial wounds when a "mud cap" exploded in a Hillsville quarry last Friday. Missiles lodged in the coach's face. . . .

Our U. S. Marine Corps scribe—Fred Maciarello—reports that 15 New Castlelites have been assigned to the Philly Navy Yard. The south sider lists their last names as follow: Castele, Audino, Russo, DiCarlo, Fusco, Hazen, Berner, Tewell, Wallace, Flansburg, Salmen, Minteer, Rowan, Cartwright and Maciarello.

Another note, from Galveston, Texas, informs the desk that Geno "Spotty" Reda, a south side athlete, has been elevated to the rank of corporal. Reda was promoted three days after being transferred to Ft. Crockett from Fort Wallace. "Musty" Isabelia is still stationed at Camp Wallace and Andy Exposito has been shifted to Ft. Lewis, Washington, another communique from the service boys states. . . .

Jim Higgins, a fancy gridder at New Castle high in 1937 and 1938 and later a gridsman at Holy Cross, has enlisted in the Navy. He will be sent to the officers' training school, probably at Notre Dame University, within the next few weeks.

Buddy Hassett, the New York Yankees' first sacker, ranks as one of the toughest men at the home dish. The ex-National leaguers suffered his first strike out of the season last Sunday. Al Smith, of Cleveland, performing the feat. Buddy has paraded plateward 140 times without whiffing. . . .

The sight of Whitlow Wyatt on the knoll is an unhappy one to the Boston Braves. Wyatt hopped into the majors from the American Association. He joined Brooklyn in August, 1939. He has faced the Braves 87 innings, holding the Beantowners scoreless in 83 frames. . . .

The National League lists 24 regular left-handed pitchers this season, this excludes Ed. Head, of Brooklyn, who was formerly a portsider and still can pgg 'em from the left. . . . The St. Louis Cardinals have beaten Johnny Vander Meer only three times in 13 attempts. Thus far the Cincy specialist has whipped the Mizou nine twice. . . .

Leo MacPhail, Brooklyn's fast talking head man, must be slipping. How did he ever let such a big name guy as Jimmy Foxx get away? . . . Jack Blackburn, Joe Louis' trainer, who passed on April 24, left an estate of $6,500. . . . No less than nine teams won doubleheaders last Sunday, a feat as odd as a no-hit-no-run game.

Bessemer Nine Sinks Indies, 4-3

Triumph Brightens Cementers' Hopes For City Baseball League Toga

Bessemer is back in the City Baseball league first half championship fight.

The "Cementers" turned in a neat 4-3 triumph over the Lawrence Indies, at Bessemer Tuesday, to skip within a half game of second place.

In notching their sixth win against five losses, the "Cementers" were spearheaded by Hardesty's pitching and Vrable's three singles. Bessemer tallied the winning marker in the sixth. Mosley connected twice for singles to lead the Indies' attack. The setback dropped the Indies down into seventh place.

Seek Foes For Ezzard Charles And Raffa To Support Lesnevich-Brown Scrap

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 11 — Jake Mintz, the sharp-voiced little promoter who outshouted Mike Jacobs and won a light heavyweight title bout for Pittsburgh on June 29, began lining up the preliminary card today to support the championship match between Gus Lesnevich and Mose Brown, of nearby McKeesport.

Mintz said he was looking for opponents for Ezzard Charles, sensational hard-punching Cincinnati negro who surprised veteran Charley Burley recently, and Sgt. Mike Raffa, of Fort Knox, one of the leading contenders for the featherweight title.

Brown has already started training for the 5-round title bout, while Lesnevich, of Cliffside, N. J., will start his furlough today from the coast guard in New York and do his preliminary workouts in Gotham.

Rip Sewell Pitches, Bats Pittsburgh To 3-0 Triumph Over Boston Braves

EXTRA! YANKS LOSE; CLEVELAND WINS, 4-3

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Detroit, busy turning out bombers to crush Hitler's predatory claws, today had a baseball bomber to add to its list of civic prides and joys. Rookie Ned Harris was the name. The 26-year-old Tiger outfielder gave the vaunted New York Yankees a taste of their own medicine yesterday as the Bakermen whipped the American league leaders, 4 to 1, behind highly efficient pitching by Al Benton.

With two mates aboard in the eleventh inning, Harris cracked a fat Johnny Murphy pitch into the lower left field stands. Jimmy Bloodworth had connected for a circuit clout off starting pitcher Marvin Breuer in the fifth stanza. The score was tied at 1-1 in the eighth on singles by Frankie Crosetti and Tommy Henrich and an error by Pinky Higgins. With two out in the eleventh, Joe Gordon rapped a one-bagger to stretch his hitting streak to 27 games.

In the National league, the league leaders, the Brooklyn Dodgers, were forced to postpone their scheduled contest with the St. Louis Cardinals because of weather. Big Bill Lee hurled the Chicago Cubs to a 5 to 2 triumph over Philadelphia and Johnny Podgajny. Lee permitted but eight hits as he scored his eighth victory of the season.

Rip Sewell Stars

Rip Sewell pitched and batted the Pittsburgh Pirates to their sixth straight win last night, a 3 to 0 triumph over the fast-slipping Boston Braves. Sewell held the Braves to four scattered singles and batted in a pair of runs with an eighth inning single. The loss was the ninth straight for Boston.

Johnny Mize's big bat propelled the New York Giants into a third place tie with Cincinnati as the Ottmen swept their two-game series last night, 6 to 1. While Hal Schumacher and Adams kept the Reds well in check, Mize rapped out a pair of doubles and a single to drive in four runs. Johnny Vander Meer fanned eight Giants in the seven innings he worked on the mound.

Chicago defeated Philadelphia, 4 to 1, to shove the Athletics back into last place. The victory, in which Johnny Humphries helped himself to victory by bright hitting as well as pitching, placed the White Sox in seventh place. Jack Wallaesa, promising Athletic shortstop, recently reclassiifed in 1-A in the draft, announced he would enlist in the ground service of the Army Air Force tomorrow or Friday.

Boston Red Sox scored their fourth straight win with a 10 to 3 verdict over the St. Louis Browns. Tex Hughson pitched eight-hit ball and kept the bingles prudently scattered. Mike Chartak, playing his first game for the Browns, hit a three-run homer in the third frame. Dom DiMaggio connected for a two-run circuit clout in the fourth.

The Cleveland Indians scored a 4 to 3 12-inning arc light decision over the Washington Senators when relief pitcher Charles Embree drove Roy Mack across the plate with a slow infield roller. Buck Newsom hurled shutout ball for eight innings but weakened in the ninth to permit Cleveland to push across three tallies. Alex Carrasquel, who replaced Newsom, was charged with the loss.

Seattle has three players who stand six feet four inches—Pitchers Zar and Libke and Outfielder Endress.

Fear MacMitchell Is All Burned Out

America's Greatest Miler Is Being Tagged "The Alsab Of Footracing"

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 11—There are some cruel citizens around this neck of the woods who are shaking their heads, muttering, thinking dark thoughts and referring to America's greatest miler, Leslie MacMitchell as "The Alsab of Footracing."

That's no kidding. Veteran track fans are genuinely concerned about the recent form of New York University's most famous racer. They think he is burned out and ready to be "taken" in some of the important meets that will shortly blossom on the summer track schedule.

MacMitchell has been running his heart out all winter and through an intensive spring campaign and only last Saturday suffered his first defeat in the mile since 1940 when Dartmouth's Don Burnham beat him to the tape.

The consensus is that Les is all tired out. He has had the rigors of a hard winter campaign; his graduation preparations and preparations for his possible induction into the armed forces on his mind in the last few months and it hasn't added up to the best possible diet for a grand and glorious track valedictory.

The boys can't help but compare MacMitchell with Alsab, one of the best known thoroughbreds of Equine society this season, for like the little colt, Les had run some very fine and some very disappointing races.

We wouldn't be a bit surprised to see Les get taken again in the NCAA championships at Lincoln, Neb., Saturday. He will have to face among others Le Roy Weed of U. S. C. and Bobby Ginn, Nebraska's Big Six mile king. This pair are gunning for the pride of the east and will be able to press him under 4:12.

Forty-Nine Colleges Entered In Two-Day Classic; Nebraska Track Is Site

(International News Service)

LINCOLN, Nebr., June 11.—The 21st National Collegiate games shaped up today as mostly an individual affair for the star-studded cast with Southern California expected to run into little opposition for its eight straight N.C.A.A. crown.

The talk is mostly Trojan and of the defending champions who include Barney Ewell, Penn State, both dashes; Hubert Kerns, Southern California, 440; Campbell Kane, Indiana, 880; Leslie MacMitchell, New York University, mile; Bob Wright, Ohio State, both hurdles; Al Blozis, Georgetown, shot put, and Harold Hunt, Nebraska, pole vault.

Among other top-notch performers commanding attention are Hal Davis, California's speed merchant, and his teammate, Grover Klemmer, quarter-mile specialist, and Pete Watkins, high jumper artist carrying the colors of Texas A. & M.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

A day to live for was yesterday . . . at least that is the way the Rotary Club of New Castle thinks . . . Last evening the farmers of Lawrence County played host to the Rotarians and it was a big chicken dinner at the East Brook High School. And what a dinner, one that will be remembered for many months to come. The wives of our farmers sure can put up a delicious feed . . . and personally there is nothing we like to do better than eat. Pardon us while we sit back and think of the evening again.

Here is a little poem you might like . . . it was written by the official poet of this column . . . A. T. Kissinger . . . This is a Christian nation . . . buy War Bonds and Stamps and help our boys win this war.

If you do something for Christ today,
No matter how little you do;
If you are doing the best you can,
Then Christ will appreciate you.

It is not the million dollar gift,
That flares on the paper's pages;
That has carried the Christian spirit,
Down through the darkest ages.

If what you give is a sacrifice
And down in your heart you're sincere;
You are doing as much in the eyes of God,
As those who give millions each year.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and until five o'clock the Women of the Epworth Church will entertain at the home of Mrs. Weaver at 109 Fairfield avenue. All women of the community are invited to attend . . . Mrs. Weaver has a beautiful setting for such an affair and a large crowd is expected. Come and meet your friends and at the same time help the missionaries, home and abroad. Silver offering.

News Briefs From City Hall

When council convenes Monday morning in city hall, it was indicated today, it will adopt a resolution paying dependents of Edwin Jessell, U. S. navy, one-half his salary he earned as a city fireman. So far no definite action has been taken on other cases of city employes who have left for armed services and who claim they had dependents.

Council convened in city council meeting today in the municipal building and authorized payment of $660 to Simon Lasky for oiling lanes leading to cemeteries.

City fathers today decided not to have the S. V. T. company remove street car rails from the Mahoning avenue viaduct. "To do so would weaken the structure," City Engineer John Z. Street told councilmen.

City Solicitor Robert M. White today in council meeting, held in council chambers, city hall, informed J. R. Snyder, New Castle Duntile company, he can secure permits to remove street car rails from city owned thoroughfares through permits granted by City Engineer John Z. Street, and approved by council.

Council met today in city hall and referred to the legal department the petition to change a section of the 300 block of East Lutton street from a residential to a secondary business zone. Attorney Joseph Leta appeared for opponents of the change today in council. It appears a grocer wants to move from a rented storeroom to his own property next door.

While Benny Hazleton, Boyles avenue, was enjoying a swim in the Neshannock creek someone stole his Challenger bicycle.

Police are expected to act quickly on complaints that loiterers on street corners are insulting women. This is the first time in a long time that such a complaint has been made. Possibly police will not delay taking immediate action in alleviating such a situation. There is no reason why any woman should be insulted.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 11.—You don't have to be a golf fan, a rich man or an autograph seeker to get in on this deal. All you need is a little eagerness to help out the families of the gents who are doing our fighting on the ships and planes and submarines and every little bit will help. It works this way:

Babe Ruth, Craig Wood, Bob Hope and Corp. Vic Ghezzi will appear in an exhibition golf match at Bloomfield, N. J., on Saturday for the benefit of the Naval Relief society, which will get all the money. Fred Corcoran, the tournament manager for the Professional Golf Association, realized immediately when he arranged this one that it was a little bigger than the ordinary exhibition and for a cause somewhat more important than exhibitions played by stars for their own ulterior purposes — I mean money in their own banks.

Hence Mr. Corcoran, a man of vision, immediately also realized that the match should draw 5,000 or 10,000 or 1,000,000 people, everything to go to the Naval Relief society. But he couldn't figure out any way to get that many spectators on the course and he decided to pursue a unique plan to boost the fund from this match to the utmost.

So, no matter where you are, how much money you may have, what your reactions to golf may be you still can play a part in putting this one over simply by sending your buck to Fred Corcoran, tournament manager, Professional Golfers Association, Hotel McAlpin, New York.

If in return you want the autograph of Ruth, Wood, Hope or Ghezzi or the flock of them just specify that wish and you'll get it, or them, and each and all bona fide.

Aside from this particular match, Corcoran is arranging several others in which Ruth will appear along with Wood, the national open champion; possibly Ghezzi, the former professional champion, and Hope. In every instance funds will go to the war fund.

Ruth O. K. Again

The Babe has turned himself over to Corcoran for war duty on the golf courses and is eager to meet all comers singly or in droves to show his southpaw shots against his orthodox brethern of the links. His appearance at Bloomfield on Saturday will be his first since his recent severe illness on the coast, but he is completely recovered, he says, and is ready to make a circuit of it under Corcoran's direction. Hope, Bing Crosby and all the professional golfers are lined up the same way and from here on out the P. G. A. will be concentrating on raising funds rather than looking ahead to more and bigger tournaments for itself. There will be some tournaments, but for the most part this activity will be sloughed off until after the war.

Golf has gotten into the swing of the war effort, and a great contribution also will be made at Chicago on June 18-21 through the Hale America open. Bobby Jones will be among those who will compete there.

Saturday's match at Bloomfield will be interesting for a number of reasons. One is that the visiting populace will find that Hope can play pretty good golf. He might get around in 75. He has done even better than that. Ghezzi, of course, will be at or under par all the way and the Babe will get himself a comfortable 80, barring accident, although he to can reel off a round in the 70's.

As for Wood, he will be back on the course where he once won the Met Open with a world record score of 264, fashioned with rounds of 66, 68, 64, 66, which beat Ben Hogan, the runnerup by 11 strokes, although the latter was nine under par.

Marine corps, among a group of marines about to land in Australia, in a newspaper photograph. Mr. Barber formerly resided at Martins Ferry, where the son Tom, a six-foot three-inch giant, played on the crack Martins Ferry football squad, which played against New Castle in 1935-1936. He later attended Chattanooga university and had received several pro offers, which he declined, to enlist in the marine corps.

College graduate athletes and physical directors are now being offered a new opportunity to enlist in the United States navy as chief specialists and become part of the navy's physical fitness program, Chief D. C. Ritchie, naval recruiting officer in the post office, announced.

Commander James J. Tunney, former world heavyweight boxing champion, who is in charge of the physical fitness program, announced today that the bureau of navy personnel's representative will be in Chicago June 22, 23 and 24; Cleveland June 25 and 26 and in New York July 1, 2 and 3, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., to interview applicants from all sections of the country.

In announcing these visits Commander Tunney said: "Ultimate success in this war will depend upon our manpower and stamina. The United States navy is undertaking a vigorous program to build up the strength and endurance of its personnel. All physical instructors and well-qualified athletes with college degrees between the ages of 21 and 35 are urged to make application to participate in this program. Men without college training need not apply. Ratings of chief specialist, which is the highest non-commission rating, are to be given to acceptable applicants.

"Applicants for these ratings must have in their possession at the time of their interview the following:

"1—Transcript of their college record.

"2—Birth certificate.

"3—Discharge if they have had any previous military service.

"4—Two pictures (2½ by 2½) taken within the last week."

Women Can Enroll For Special Course

Penn State And Tech Announce Training In 'Tracing Techniques'

One sure way for women to aid in the war effort is to enroll in the Pennsylvania State college and Carnegie Tech defense training class in "tracing techniques" to be held at senior high school starting June 18.

This course, by instructing students in engineering drawing, lettering and the use of drafting equipment, enables them to fill drafting jobs left vacant by men now in some branch of the armed services. The introduction of women as draftsmen into industry—aside from aiding the war effort tremendously—is also a remarkably fine opportunity for women to enter a field formerly regarded as almost exclusively masculine. For, upon completion of the course in tracing techniques, the student may continue to advance herself by other defense training courses.

The only prerequisite for the course in tracing techniques is a four-year high school course or its industrial equivalent. Registration will be at the high school Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 15 and 16, from 7 to 9:30 o'clock.

Nero didn't stop fiddling while Rome burned.

Nero did stop hemorrhages while the Romans marvelled.

Viper poison was used at the early date to stop hemorrhage.

Snake venom is still being used therapeutically.

Three species of Pennsylvania snakes are poisonous.

Most bites in this state are caused by the copperhead.

Yet most deaths have been due to the banded rattlesnake.

The mountain rattlesnake is the third of the poisonous snakes.

Most snake bites occur on the legs below the knees.

A large number also occur on the arms below the elbows.

Boots, leggings or gloves will protect to some extent.

A snake bite victim should get to a doctor quickly.

Local Boy Gets Plane Model From R. A. F. Sergeant

Larry Newingham Is Presented With Model Made From Downed Nazi Plane

Larry Newingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Newingham of Laurel boulevard, possesses one of the most interesting relics of the present war, which was sent to him by Sgt. Tom King of the Royal Air Force.

Some months ago, Mrs. Newingham knitted a pair of socks which were sent to England, and were received by Sgt. King, who wrote a letter of thanks, and letters have been exchanged with him by the Newingham family.

In appreciation, Sgt. King made a model of a Wellington bomber from a block of aluminum, taken from a German plane shot down in a raid over Britain, which he sent to young Larry. The plane is suspended on a rod, over an ash tray, in the position of a dive and is an excellent piece of handicraft.

Electricians Off Luzerne Jobs Today

State Mediator On Hand For Talks; War Work Not Affected

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 11.—Electrical work in Luzerne county, except in defense industries, was halted today by a strike of A. F. of L.-Affiliated Electrical Workers because of the failure of contractors to grant a $12-a-day wage, an increase of $2 over the former scale.

The contractors appealed to federal authorities at Washington for permission to increase prices to the public due to wage demands, but no action was immediately forthcoming.

State Labor Mediator Patrick Ramsey arranged a meeting between union spokesmen and the employers in an effort to settle the dispute.
